

May 2010

From: The Ashland Homecoming Weekend Committee

To: CCHS Alumni Class Leaders

In connection with Alabama's 2010 emphasis on the Year of Small Towns, the City of Ashland is planning a big Ashland Homecoming Weekend for October 8-10, and we want you and your classmates to be an important part of it.

This year is the 100th anniversary of Clay County High, and there will be reunions of all Clay County High School graduating classes that choose to participate. The entire weekend should be a great time around town! You'll be able to see not only the members of your graduating class but also those in the years ahead of you and behind you. It will be a fine time for getting in touch with folks you may never otherwise run into. There will be a schedule so you'll know when and where all the events are happening. We are asking class leaders to get information out to your classmates.

A few of the weekend highlights:

- On Friday night the CCHS Panther football team will host Walter Wellborn High School. There will be recognition of class groups.
- The drama "City Set on a Hill" (The Story of Ashland) will be performed three times so everyone can enjoy a reenactment of Ashland's beginnings. Rev. Bob Curlee, playwright, will honor us with his attendance.
- A historical plaque will be unveiled on the courthouse square, giving the history of Ashland.
- Tennis and golf tournaments are set for the weekend. This will be the return of Clay County's Tennis Classic and the first Clay County Classic Golf Tournament.
- There will be food vendors and dancing on the square to the music of great musicians.
- A community-wide church service at the stadium on Sunday will bring in former pastors and church members as special guests.
- You will have a chance to have your name engraved on a brick paver that will become a permanent part of Ashland. (Please see the enclosed brochure and order form)

Since fall is such a beautiful time of year in Clay County, we know that everyone will enjoy being here. Please let us know what your class will be doing. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
